LIQUOR LICENSES TO BE SETTLED

Called Meeting of Board of Aldermen to be Held Tomorrow Night.

WILL PASS THE BILL.

End of Protracted Disagreement Between Two Boards of the City Council Now in Sight.

As had been intimated in an editorial in yesterday's Gazette, the members of the Boar dof Aldermen not desiring that their motives should be misunderstood and at the same time to sho wthat they have no desire to be posing as obstructionists in the matter of fixing the license tax for the sale of liquor, have concluded to meet in special session tomorrow night at which time, it is believed, the ordinance will be passed as it originally came from the Common Council.

The history of this unfortunate deadlock is fresh in the minds of all, and there is no necessity for reproducing it at this time. It was one of those instances which often occur in dual legislative bodies when it is hard to induce one or the other to recede from its original stand. It was so in regard to the tax on liquor dealers when the city fathers began the work of preparing the ordinance several weeks ago.

Some members of the lower board were at first in favor of increasing the license tax on liquor dealers to five hundred dollars but as opposition developed to such a sudden augmentation, a compromise was finally reached by which it was agreed to place the tax at $250, or $100 above that of last year. From this stand it was understood there would be no recession on the part of a majority, and when the Aldermen attempted to have the measure passed in a more conservative shape the suggestion was firmly opposed by a majority of the members of the Common Council. For a time it looked as though both branches will prove inexorable, but the upper board, as stated above, waiving the many reasons they have given why, from their standpoint, the license should not have been so suddenly increased, will, in the interests of harmony, adopt the ordinance as it came from the lower board, thus bringing to an end a vaxatious delay in passing a bill which should have become a law before the 1st instant.

THE LATE JAMES HARTLEY.

Deceased Alexandrian Was a Prominent Member of Richmond Elks.

The death in Richmond of James Hartley, a former Alexandrian, was announced in yesterday's Gazette. The following is taken from the Richmond Times-Dispatch of today.

James Hartley, a widely known retired merchant and large real estate owner, died yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at his residence, 923 West Main street, in the seventy-fourth year of his age. His funeral will take place from Sacred Heart Cathedral tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock with requiem mass.

Mr. Hartley was for many years one of the best known and most successful merchants of the East End, having been in business in Fulton since a few years after the war until he retired about 1900. He was born in County Kilkenny, Ireland, and came to this country when twelve years of age and located with his parents and family in Alexandria, Va. where he resided until the outbreak of the war. At the beginning of the war he engaged in railroad construction, and remained in that business working on some of the leading railroads in this state and elsewhere until about a year after the war closed, when he came to Richmond. Realizing the future prospects of the city in the mercantile business, he opened a general merchandise store in Fulton and from a small beginning by assiduous attention and ability built up a large and profitable business. From the first he had been great faith in real estate and invested from time to time until he had accumulated quite a large holding of improved city property. He married Mrs. Margaret McNamara in 1867, and she preceded him to the grave twenty-one years ago. From this union there were no children. He continued to reside in Fulton after the death of his wife for some years, when he finally moved to his residence in the West End. He was one of the oldest members of the Capital Buiding and Loan Association an da director in that institution for more than twenty-five years.

Mr. Hartley never aspired to political office, though he took a keen interest in everything pertainng to the civic welfare, and was often urged to become a candidate for the Council and Board of Aldermen. He was a man of fine presence and commanding influence, and was often jocularly referred to as the "Mayor of Fulton." He was for many years a devout member of St. Patrick's Church, and maintained a lively interest therein, even after he changed his membership to the Sacred Heart Cathedral by virtue of a change of residence. He was considered one of the best posted men on real estate in the city, and frequently was designated to serve on commissions to assess compensation and damages in the condemnation of property by the city.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Margaret E. Stone, who resided with him, and Miss Annie Hartley, of Alexandria, and the following nieces and nephews: Mrs. Michael Downey, Miss Ella Lawler, Edward E. aLwler, Nicholas J. Lawler, John N. Lawler, and James T. Lawler, of Alexandria, and John T. Stone, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

TO PROVIDE FOR ASSET CURRENCY

Congressman Glass Actively Engaged in Preparing Digest of Bill.

PLANS OF MEASURE.

President Wilson and Members of Cabinet to Meet This Afternoon to Consider Provisions.

Washington, June 17. — Currency legislation was tehe chief topic of discussion at both the White House and Capitol today. The President was scheduled to discuss his message with the Cabinet, and Congressman Glass busied himself with making a digest of the bill, which will be made public, in all probability, this week.

It has been learned that the bill will provide for an asset currency.

The bill will provide for a Fedral board of control and fifteen regional reserve associations, geographically distributed. The federal board of control will make the note issues to the regional reserve banks which may mollify to a certain extent Democrats who fear "bank denomination."

To bring about more elasticity, the board of control,in cas of emergency, may transfer from one reserve association to another reserve funds, to meet local conditions.

Reports that there would be a graduated tax on national bank note issues are declared without foundation, and a flat tax rate of one-half of 1 per cent probably will be made.

The bill will seek to reduce the amount of reserve now held in the larger cities and to prevent "concentration" of such reserves.

Regional banks, when created, are to be the fiscal agents of the government and the government's attitude toward them in the way of deposits will be liberal. The regional reserve or central bank will be, in effect, subtreasuries and little money will be kept in reserve in Washington.

There will be no attempt to retire immediately existing national bank circulation. The retirement will be gradual, the new "Federal Board of Control" notes taking the place of the old issues as the latter are redeemed.

A limited number of the larger national banks will be permitted to open branches abroad, thus facilitating the handling of exchanges and promoting international trade relations.

FOR FERRY ACROSS CANAL.

Connection Between North And South America to be Maintained.

Washington, June 17.—Paradoxical as it may seem, the first task for the army engineers after they have succeeded in severing the continents of North and South America by the Panama Canal will be to re-establish the connection.

It is necessary that communication by rail be maintained unimpaired between the north and south banks of the canal, especially if the railway systems of North and South America are to be linked so as to afford unbroken connection between New York and Buenos Ayres.

Bridges high enough above the canal to permit of the passage of ocean going vessels with their lofty masts are out of the question, while a plan to tunnel under the canal has been abandoned because of the great cost. The decision has inclined toward a system of large steam car floats constituting a gigantic ferry which probably will be located near Camp Elliott.

LOST.—Shortly after 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the Royal St., station of the electric railway a POCKETBOOK, containing a small sum of money and some papers of value to the owner. A reward of five dollars will be paid the finder and he can retain the money in the book upon returning the same to Conductor Charles W. Simpson.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Wytheville, Va., June 17.—The proceedings of the court of appeals, in session in Wytheville yesterday:

Virginian Railway Co. vs. Ball, argued by H. T. Hall and G. A. Wingfield for appellant and by A. P. Staples, Jr., or appellee.

Nesbitt vs. Webb, argued by H. T. Hall for appellant and Ashby Williams and R. C. Jackson for appellee.

This closes the docket of the corporation court of Roanoke.

The next docket will be that of the court of law and chancery, Roanoke.

The first case caled at tomorrow's sesison will be Marstellar vs. Warden and Hailey.

There are only four cases on this the last docket, so the court probably will adjourn for the session Wednesday.

OFFICER LOSES PLACE.

Says Impolite Things About Council, And is Dismissed.

Norfolk, Va., June 17.—On charges of conduct unbecoming an officer, Sam Knapp was dismissed from the police force today by the Board of Control. The decision of the Board was unanimous, all three members signing the order of dismissal.

Knapp was chairman of a committee on the police force which went before the Council asking for an increase of 25 cents a day in wages. The Council after considerable discussion voted to allow the men an increase of 10 cents.

Knapp was accussed of voicing his opinion of the council in public, and his remarks were overheard by Assistant Chief Bunting ,of the Fire Department. Bunting has a brother in the council, and Knapp's language was of such a nature that the assistant fire chief immediately filed charges against the policeman.

Knapp has been before the board on previous occasions on various charges. He tried to have the present case against him "hushed," and got a number of councilmen to sign a petition saying they didn't want to prosecute the charge. Knapp also agreed to go before the Council and make an apology although he denied saying the things charged against him. Five reputable witnesses appeared against Knapp at the hearing and the decision of the board is apparently a popular one.

LOST on the Road, between Alexandria and Washington, a coat containing a watch valued at $300, bearing on one side a blue crest and on the other the initials P. V. P. A liberal reward if returned to Portner Brewing Co.

RUNAWAY PRINCESS OLGA GOLITZEN

Russian Embassy Will Take no Action Concerning Fugitive.

WASH HANDS OF HER.

Return Passage Has Been Secured for Woman—She is Now Said to be Eager to Return Home.

Washington, June 17.—The Russian embassy has washed its hands of Princess Olga Golitzin, runaway from Russia. A. Lysakovsky, the only secretary of the embassy in the city today, declared he now has no interest in the case, and that any further action will be up to the consul at New York.

He knew nothing of her reported visit yesterday to Washington—her second disappearance, and he declared that the Washington office had dropped the case. It handled the case about a month ago during her first trip here.

Dispatches fro New York indicate that the Princess came here to consult a man named Corey, but none of the persons of that name here know anything of the matter, according to the statements today from all those available.

Passage back to Russia had been secured for the princess, who ran away to become an actress. Mysteriously she left New York, and when she returned last night she indicated that she had been in this city. A search of the hotels today shows that if she did come here she did not register under her correct name. The consul at New York will probably arrange to send her back eo fatherland, inasmuch as she is now eager to return. The consul office in New York declares that there has been no pressure to induce her to return to Russia.

CHILD BEATEN.

Colored Boy of Six Beaten For Refusing to Steal.

Lambertville, N.J., June 17.—Because he refused to aid some older boys in stealing cherries, Edward Williams, a 6-year-old colored boy, lies in St. Francis' Hospital, Trenton, at the point of death. The boy's mother, Lewis Dorsey, is employed in Atlantic City, and the boy told his companions that she would not want him to steal, whereat two of them turned upon him and kicked him, inflicting terrible internal injuries.

The child is not expected to recover, and the authorities are investigating to learn the identity of the boys who assaulted him.

ELOPER CONVICTED OF THEFT.

Took Motorcar Standing on Street to Continue Flight.

Philadelphia, June 17.—Earl Scott, known also as Lloyd Williams, who was arrested two weeks ago at Lewistown, Pa., after he had eloped from Boston with Edythe Maye Howe, the 16-year-old daugher of a railroad freight solicitor of the New England city, was convicted in Quarter Sessions Court yesterday of stealing a motorcar belonging to Paul Clayton, of Haverford. Sentence was deferred.

Scott, who is 17 years old, when taken into custody at Lewistown for purchasing food supplies and having them charged to a citizen of that place, declared he and the girl were on the way to Chicago. Upon arriving in Trenton, N. J., the pair found themselves penniless, so they walked to this city. The girl became exhausted and for this reason, Scott declared, he took the automobile, which was standing on a street here.

After their arrest Miss Howe was was standing on a street here.

Miss Mary Ball, of Richmond, is the guest of Miss Elsie Snowden at her home in south Washington street.

The home of Mrs., James Hayes, 817 Floyd avenue, was converted into a veritable garden of lovely flowers last evening at 9 o'clock for the marriage of her granddaughter, Miss Katherine Ewing Eaches, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Ewing Eaches, formerly of Louisville, Ky., but now of Richmond, to Robert Coleman Walker, son of the late William James Walker, also of Richmond.

The bride entered the drawing room with her father, who gave her away, and they were met at he altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Clnton G. Davis, of Portland, Maine. Her wedding gown was an equsite affair of Georgette crepe with a bodice of real lace, and the ong court train of softest white satin fell from her shoulders. She wore a tulle veil arranged in a cap effect and caught with sprays of orange blossoms, and her only ornament was a diamond necklace, the gift of the groom. The bride carried a presentation bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley Miss Elizabeth Travers Eaches, a debutante of the past winter, who was her sister's maid of honor, wore a flounced gown of white lace finished with palest pink satin and carried a shower bouquet of La France roses and lilies of the valley.

Both carried old-fashioned nosegays finished with a lace frill and tied with streamers of pink tulle. A norchestra played the wedding music for the reception.

Only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, and a reception followed at half-after 9, after which Mr. and Mrs. Walker left for New York. They

Medals and Diplomas Awarded Last Night at Young People's Building

The closing exercises of the Alexandria high school last night were of a most interesting nature, and the event will long be remembered by the many who witnessed them. The pupils who received medals and diplomas were of course, aglow with satisfaction over the happy result of their diligence, while their many relatives and friends in the audience were equally enthused.

The American Indian Guard band at an early hour in the evening marched from their hall on South Fairfax street to the Young People's Building, where the exercises were held, and taking position in front of that edifice discoursed thrilling music which was a most interesting feature of the occasion.

Notwithstanding the appearance of a thunder cloud, the auditorium of the building was filled with a delightful audience. City Superintendent Sweeney, members of the school board, other city officials and teachers of the public schools were upon the stage.

The exercises were opened with the singing of "America," by the audience.

Invocation was pronounced by Rev. J. W. Duffey, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church.

H. D. Kirk, clerk of the city school board, then awarded cards of honor to those promoted in the various grades of the high school, the names of whom appeared in yesterday's Gazette. Conrad Johnson principal of the school then made an announcement of the standing of the scholars during the year.

The awarding of medals followed, Dr. W. M. Smith, president of the school board distributing the same. Those who received them were Herman Pohl, English, general average, 99 6-10; Mary Hayden, history, general average 100, Albert Bryan Latin, general average 99 7-10, and Dolly Callahan, Latin, general average, 99 7-10.

Diplomas of graduation were awarded the seven graduates by Representative C. C. Carlin, who made a short address, among other things, he said he received his education in the public schools of which he was proud. During his address he dwelt upon the importance of scholars becoming familiar with the civil government, and spoke of the object of the public schools and their steady growth in Virginia, as well as the just appreciation in which they are held. They had, the speaker said, practically supplanted private institutions of learning. Mr. Carlin closed by imparting words of encouragement to the graduates and congratulating them upon their success.

Members of the graduating class received many beautiful flowers from their friends.

The enthusiasm which was manifested by the many who attended the closing exercises last night was marked, and shows the interest that is taken in our public school system by all classes of the community who

TORRID WEATHER IS HERE

Fierce Heat Wave Yesterday. Its Effects Felt During Last Night

Old Sol made himself felt yesterday and his fierce beams kept many persons under shelter. The mercury forged into the nineties, and general discomfort was experienced by man and beast.

Towards the close of the day clouds formed in the western heavens and later there was rain accompanied by thunder and lightning.

The rain, however, was short-lived, but for the time being it afforded some relief from the previous stifling conditions. The breeze which had preceded the showers soon died away, and the temperature last night was sultry and interfered considerably with sleep.

A fresh northwest breeze has prevailed today, which rendered conditions more endurable.

LEAP TO ESCAPE FIRE.

Morning Conflagration in Richmond Causes Excitement.

hmond, Va., June 17.—With but v moments left them in which to their escape, thirteen people d their lives at 3:30 o'clock Sunmorning by jumping or being lowfrom a front window in the secstory of the grocery store of D. di, 424 East Marshall street. The e is occupied by D. Landi and his ily as a residence. There were 9 rders in the house, all Italians.

The fire had evidently been burnfor some time, and dense volumes smoke were pouring through the ore when a boarder in a rear room as awakened and raised the cry of e. Almost suffocated, Mr. Landi mped from bed, and aroused his ife and two children. As he reach- the front window the smoke had led the room, and the crackling mes could be heard close behind. All the boarders had been aroused, d were pressing forward to the ndow, the only avenue of escape t them. Fortunately for Mr. Lanthe blaze had attracted the attenn of several passersby, and to them, aching far out over the window sill lowered his two children. Mrs. ndi jumped and the husband folved. Then in quick succession the rders leaped to safety. None was rt.

All were attired in their night thes and it was an incongruous owd of people in dress, and in unss which greeted the eyes of the emen as they came racing to the cene. The alarm was not turned in unti lall were out, the passersby on the street forgetting the alarm in the first excitement. Sheets and blankets were gotten out of the bed rooms for the unclothed, after the fire had been extinguished, and the homeless people were cared for by neighbors.

Though the damage to the store and the adjoining building in which the fire originated was comparatively small, Mr. Landi suffered heavily in the loss of cash, furniture, clothes and stock, which will amount to about two thousand dollars.

The boarders lost everything they had, all of their savings having been destroyed in the flames. It was their custom to leave their money with Mr. Landi for safekeeping and he had $2,040 of their money in his charge. One of the boarders lost $300, and all the others lost large amounts.

DISCONTENT IN THE COUNTRY.

Col. Harvey Speaks at University of Virginia.

Charlottesville, Va., June 17.—In the annual address before the Washington and Jefferson Literary Societies, of the University of Virginia delivered last night in Cabell Hall. Col. George Harvey discussed the discontent manifest in America, finding it due to no new condition of things or to conditions strikingly unlike those existing in other parts of the world. The change of government at Washington, due to restless seeking of relief, was- not accomplished because the men stand for new ideas or new thoughts.

"Our priceless heritage," said the Colonel, is the right of self-government. Our most valued attribute is the ability to exercise that authority over ourselves not merely to our own common advantage, but also as an example for all mankind. Has the title been vitiated or the title impaired? Seemingly not.

"The government at Washington still lives. But recently a complete change involving, after many years, the restoration to power in large measure of this great section, has been effected without causing a ripple of apprehension. Surely it is a fact of mighty significance that while centuries elapsed before Scotland could attain her former dominance in Britain, the South resumes virtual control of the United States after barely 50 years without evoking from the most rabid partisan so much as a suspicion of the patriotism or fidelity of any one of her statesmen.

"On the contrary, it is universally recognized that their installation signalized a revivification of the Constitution which their fathers conceived and established as the bulwark of human liberties. Freedom of worship of God and freedom of schools for succeeding generations are inviolate still. Poverty is rare. Physical suffering that could possibly be alleviated by action of the state is not observable. Never before in the history of the world has so great a nation been so signally blessed with respect to all things that subserve the happiness, the contentment and the opportunity of its citizens.

"And yet it is true that for the time the business of a mighty commercial country is, in a comparative sense, at a standstill; development of natural resources has pracically ceased, essential confidence among groups or classes is seriously impaired and the very air is laden with apprehension of startling and grievous happenings."

Colonel Harvey then sought the explanation of these forebodings which gather the clouds of anxiety and distrust. He summarized the tangible fears under six heads—apprehension of war, oppression of the poor by the rich, the tariff and the trusts, common extravagance, the disestablishment of credit and effects of popular agitation.

SKULL CRUSHED BY BAT.

One Pitcher is in Hospital And Other Faces Serious Charge.

Tazewell, Va., June 17.—Robert Harman, of Maxwell, who assaulted Miller Asbury with a baseball bat in Thompson Valley, Saturday, crushing hs skull in such a manner that it was thought he might die surrendered to the county authorities here yesterday and was admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000, C. P. Harman, his brother, and W. F. Harman, a relative, going on his bond. Asbury was operated upon here early Sunday morning by Drs. Crockett and St. Clair, several pieces of crushed bone were removed, and it developed that his skull had been crushed on the right side. Asbury was taken to the Bluefield Hospital where better attention and observation can be given him.

On the way to Bluefield Asbury expressed the desire that there should be no prosecution of Harman in case he should die, but all indications at this time favor an early recovery. Mr. Harman and his brother show much sympathy for Asbury and his family, and are not saring in expense in giving him the best attention posisble.

Harman and Asbury were pitchers for the opposing teams, and Harman is said to have accused Asbury of taking a step out of the pitcher's box upon delivery of balls. A fight ensued between them, in which Harman was beaten. At the close of the game further discussion of the matter is said to have taken place, which resulted in Harman striking Asbury on the side of the head with a bat crushing his skull.

THREE TO DIE IN CHAIR THE 27th

Executive Refuses Commutation in Case of Hargrove, Spottsylvania Murderer.

Richmond, Va., June 17.—Governor Mann yesterday declined to commute the sentence of Frank L. Hargrove, the Spottsylvania county negro, who is sentenced to die in the electric chair Friday, June 27th, for the murder of an aged negro couple. Hargrove's crime was peculiarly atrocious the negro having set fire to the home after the muder to conceal the crime. It was reprsented by counsel that he was convicted on circumstantial evidence and the question of mistaken identity was raised, but neither the Supreme Court nor the executive have found merit in these claims.

With the action of the executive yesterday, the death chair at the state prison will claim three victims Friday, June 27th. Hargrove Owen Goggin the negro convcted of criminal assault in Bedford county. and Nelson V. Carter, the wife murderer from Spottsylvania county. All three of the condemned men have had their cases reviewed by the Supreme Court and all have enjoyed executive respites as well.

CHURCH WINS SUIT.

Decision Against Heirs of Late William Norris.

Culpeper, Va., June 17.—The case of St. Stephens' Episcopal Church vs. the Norris heirs, which has been familiarly known as the "Norris will case," as the whole argument hinged on the eccentric will made by the late William Norris, a wealthy recluse of this country, was settled in favor of the church by the decision handed down by the Supreme Court in Wytheville this week. According to the will, in which he bequeathed everything to St. Stephens' Church, the only stipulation was that the bodies of his father, mother and a sister, long dead, should be removed to the graveyard surrounding the church, and that a substantial iron fence should be then built completely around the church premises. The will was contested, on the ground of unsound mind on part of the testator, and the case has been in litigation for three years.

The Truth About Electric Cooking

For large families where the average domestic help is employed and a large amount of cooking done, Electric Cooking will be found more expensive, and in most cases not advisable.

In small families, where no help is employed, and where nice equipment is desired, Electric cooking will be found many times more convenient, more certain in results and safer in operation—as well as reasonable in cost.

In every family a few utensils for early breakfast, emergency and special uses—and for cheering up cold meals with a warm dish or two—is highly advisable from every standpoint, including that of economy.

"OLD VIRGINIA NEVER TIRE."

One delightful description of the Old Dominion that too rarely is republished is that which Dr. George W. Bagby wrote in his exquisite essay on "Cornfield peas." "Virginians," he declares, "are the greatest people that ever did or ever will draw the breath of life. For men, women or children, dead or alive, climate, soil, scenery ,rivers, mountains, medicinal springs, niggers, horses, cattle, dogs, fish ,oysters, sora, game chickens, apples, peaches, blue plums,woodpeckers,revivals,gullies, watermelons, tobacco, chestnuts, hollow logs, chinquapins, natural bridges, mellow bugs, June apples, shuck mats persimmons, politicians, sweet potatoes, grass nuts, hams, caves, Methodist preachers, agricultural fairs, gold and iron ores, light bread, dilapidated houses, homespun clothing, artichokes, wasps, good coffee, mullens, broomstraw, waffles, hollyhocks, biscuits, worm fences, applejack, ashcakes, pines, wild turkeys, cider, members of Congress, whiskey, candidates for the presidency, cymblings, pipes and stems, turnip salad, shavers of paper, novelties, unfinished canals, poets, shoats, hotels, games of nucks, universities, barkeepers, female schools, chiggers, buttermlk, female schools, players and juba-patters—no country on earth will, as we all well know, compare with the Old Dominion." Where has there ever been a truer portrait of Virginia than this?—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

OILING THE STREETS.

In the days of summer drought, when it is suffocating to travel over the dirt and macadam roads in and about Alexandria the question of having the dust becomes of paramount importance to those traveling on and living near highways so constructed. We have been interested in noting the move made by several neighb Virginia towns, much smaller than Alexandria, to oil the dirt and macadam roads. It has resuted in greatly improved conditions wherever it has bee ntried, for oiling the roads not only lays the dust but is a ... in keeping the highways in repairs. In view of the fact that roads can be oiled at a cost of twenty dollars per square, and that two applications each summer are sufficient, we respectfully suggest to the street committee of City Council that an investigation of the matter might lead to the adoption of this plan for certain of our squares, and result in greater comfort to our people and the saving of money spent in watering and repairing.

FRIENDLY FLASH.

Girl Victim of Heat Saved by Lightning.

Philadelphia, June 17.—Double coincidence of good and bad fortune played a strane gpart in the rescue from possible death last night of Miss Nellie Traynor, of No. 2027 Arch street. Prostrated by heat at Nineteenth and Filbert sreets, as she was hurrying to her home to escape the rain, Miss Traynor staggered into the shadow of the Pennsylvania Railroad viaduct in Filbert street where she was hidden from the reach of the small street lights and was discovered only by a lucky flash of lightning, which revealed her presence to Louis E. Tiers, of Germantown.

Mr. Tiers had sat near the young woman in a dining room at Nineteenh and Market Sts., and saw her leave her pocketbook behind as she hurried from the place. He was attempting to follow her through the rain to restore her property when the presence of Miss Traynor was so strangely made known to him.

PHYSICIAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Richmond, June 17.—After preparing his will and writing a farewell note to his wife, Dr. J. M. Vaughan, colored, forty-two years old, placed a revolver against his left ear and fired a bullet into his brain yesterday morning at 6:40 o'clock in his home 203 East Sixteenth street, South Richmond.

The cause of the suicide is unknown, although the family state that Dr. Vaughan had suffered a nervous breakdown about six months ago, and had been in bad health for several weeks.

Among the out-of-town guests was Mr. William E .Fendall, of this city.

A quiet but pretty marriage was solemnized at the rectory of Christ Church, Alexanria, on Saturday June 14, 1913 when Miss Kathryn Viola Eaton, the attractive daughter of Mr. John H. Eaton, of Duke street became the bride of Mr. Lyster Lee Bowman, of Alexandria, . Rev. W. J. Morton, rector of Christ Church officiated.

Owing to a recent bereavement in the bride's family the marriage was a very quiet affair, only a few of the immediate members of the family being present.

Miss Helen Louis Bowman, a sister of the groom, was maid of honor while Mr. John L. Peed, of Alexandria, acted as best man. Imemdiately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the groom's father, where a sumptuous dinner awaited hem, served in old Virginia style, after which they were driven to the wharf where amidst congratulations and a shower of rise the happy couple boarded the 7 o'clock boat "The Southland" bound for Norfolk and an extended Southern tour.

The bride is a beautiful and accomplished young lady, while the groom is one of Alexandria's promising young business men, a nemployee in the Potomac Yards, and a son of Isaac L. Bowman, of Alexandra. Many handsome presents were received. Those who attended from a distance were Mrs. Gilbert E. Bowman, and daughter, Miss Genevieve of Amherst, Va., and Miss Bertha March, of Charlottesville, Va.

After June 30th Mr. and Mrs. Bowman will be at home to their friend at 609 south Washington street.

MANY WITNESS SCENES.

appreciate the labors of the officials and teachers. Public instruction has been a prominent feature in the Old Dominion for over two score years, and its utility is being shown year by year. At first with but one antiquated one-story building, a landmark of ante bellum days, the school board had much with which to contend in order to build up the present system. At the outset many of the community did not avail themselves of the opportunities offered by the public schools, and numbers of parents and guardians continued to patronize private institutions of learning. By the time the next generation came on the scene, however, the number of pupils in the public schools embraced the bulk of the children of the city, and represented all classes of our people. At this time the public schools are greatly appreciated and,as was case last night, when closing exercises take place the greatest interest is manifested and the hall in which they are held is densely packed.

The colored schools were closed today, and it was an interesting occasion for pupils, parents and friends. The exercises began in Hallowell School for girls, and at the close the pupils repaired to Snowden School for boys for the purpose of witnessing the exercises. The parents of many of the pupils of both schools were present. The pupils in both schools made a good showing, and they were encouraged to continue in their studies and strive to excel.

IMPROBABILITY OF WAR.

Would Cost More Money Than Can Be Found Upon the Globe.

Denver, Colo., June 17.—"If publicity were thrown upon the corporations interested in wars, war scares would die out, and revolutions simmer down," says David Starr Jordan, chancelor of Leland Stanford university, and chief director of the world's peace foundation, who is in Denver.

"Japan could not go to war with the United States, even if it wanted to," he declares. "It would have to come to the United States, either directly or indirectly, to get the money, and New York stopped the Russian Japanese war.

"Japan wants war no more than San Francisco wants earhquake. The most practical advance that has been suggested for the solution of the war question is the treaties proposed by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. They provide for an impartial investigation of the cause of a war for six months before the opening of war.

"It would be impossible for the powers of Europe to become involved in a great war, because it would cost each one of them $50,000,000 a day, and there isn't enough money in the world to defray such a gigantic bill of cost. Germany, for instance, has been trying to borrow $130,000,000 in time of peaie, but finds its effort unsuccessful.

"Why was this Japanese question made an international issue in California? Politics, that's all. The Democrats out there started it, but Governor Johnson took it away from them—stole their thunder. There are only 330 Japanese directly involved, each controling forty acres of and, and most of them have not been in Japan for twenty years. They came to California from Hawaii, where they had been working for years as fruit pickers."

END OF CIVIL RIGHTS.

Act of 1875 Declared Unconstitutional by Supreme Court.

Particular interest was evidenced yesterday by Washington businessmen in a decision handed down during the day by the United States Supreme Court, holding unconstitutional the "civil rights act" of 1875, in its application to the District of Columbia and other Federal territory. This act endeavored to prevent discrimination against individuals because of race or color.

Under it numerous suits have been brought by negroes against persons conducting business of a public nature because of the refusal to cater to them. In a series of famous decisions many years ago, the act was held to be unconstitutional as to many of the States. The Supreme Court's decision of yesterday was rendered in the case of Mary F. Butts, a negro of Everett, Mass., who sued the Merchants and Miners Transportation Co. for damages under the law, because she was required to eat at a second table and use soiled linen on a trip from Boston to Norfolk, although the had da first-class ticket.

The court held that the controverted law was null and void as to the Territories, the District of Columbia, the navigable waters of the United States, and the sea thus erasing it from the statute books. Hotel keepers, restaurateurs, and theater managers, who constituted the classes of business men of this city who have been most seriously confronted with the void law, may now refuse to serve negroes at will, or any other persons whom they deem undesirable patrons.

Several years ago a negro sued a local theater because its management had refused to sell a ticket to him. The case was tried under the "civil rights act," and admages of one cent were awarded the plaintiff. The usual manner in which the law has been avoided by those who did not care to comply with its provisions was for the business man in question to raise his prices to the person whom he did not care to serve.

three district road funds. Animal drawn vehicles, coming outside the state, other than those owned by residents of Virginia, must pay one dollar to the three road funds.

A resolution requesting the Falls Church Telephone and Telegraph Co., to suspend construction of poles or wires, passed at a recent meeting of the board was rescinded.

The Alexandria City Automobile Association was given permission to post warnings at dangerous points along the road past Hume Spring.

Telephone and trolley poles at Cherrydale were ordered moved to the southside of the Falls Church road.

The deputy clerk of the county, Norris Bowen, was authorized to spend $35 for a filing cabinet and other devices to record criminal trials before justices of the peace, the circuit court, and the police court. He was also allowd a fee of $100 for the compiling of the records.

This tract, the old home of Lord Fairfax and separated from George Washington's home at Mt. Vernon by Dogue Creek, originally consisted of approximately twenty-seven hundred, (2,700) acres, of which 1,500 acres has been taken by the United States Government for a school of Equitation of Horsemanship. The balance, between ten and twelve hundred acres consists of valuable farming lands and about eight hundred (800) acres of valuable timber It has a large deep water frontage on the Potomac river as well as a large frontage on Dogue Creek, with valuable fishing shores. The property is improved by an old mansion house, familiarly known for many years as the "White House," a club house, barns, stables, out-buildings and tenant houses. It is situated on the county road between Mt. Vernon and Accotink, and is about four miles by road from Mt. Vernon. This property is one of the most historic in the section and would make a very desirable country estate because of its location and the opportunities afforded for fishing and shooting.

WOMAN KILLS PHYSICIAN.

Fires Bullet Into Temple After Placing Four Bullets in Victim's Body.

Savannah, Ga., June 17.—Dr. Guy O. Brinkley, a practicing physician, was shot and killed in his private office yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Eugene H. Whisnant, a widow, formerly Miss Kate Kittles, who then turned the same weapon upon herself, her dead body falling across that of the victim. The woman shot herself through the temple.

A woman companion, whose identity has not been positively established, but who is supposed to have been a sister of the dead girl, accompanied her to the physician's office, remaining in the ante room while the girl went into the consulting room, where the shooting began. This woman disappeared by the front entrance immediately after the first shot was fired. The police are now searching for her.

Dr. Brinkley was shot four times; all four of the wounds were in the body, one penetrating the heart. The woman concealed the revolver in a small white hand bag, which she carried in the office with her. Dr. Brinkley had been attending the girl for several weeks. The coming of the two women excited no suspicion on the part of the colored maid, who admitted them as usual.

Dr. Brinkley ran from the inner office when the girl first began firing. The chase led through the outer office, through the hallway and into the kitchen. In the kitchen was Anna Williams, the maid, who admitted the two women. Dr. Brinkley called to her: "For God's sake, get the police!" He at that time had two wounds in his body, one in the back and one in the neck, and was bleeding profusely.

The colored woman ran to a corner drug store and telephoned for assistance. Mrs. Whisnant pursued the physician onto the back porch and again into the private office, where she inflicted the wound that touched the heart and caused instant death.

Immediately the girl turned the revolver upon herself, the bullet entering the right temple.

Dr. Brinkley was a Virginian. He came to Savannah several years ago from Suffolk, that State. He was unmarried. His name has never been connected with that of Mrs. Whisnant publicly, and there had never been any deep friendship between them, so far as can be ascertained. Mrs. Whisnant had been under treatment with Dr. Brinkley for several weeks.

The girl was a daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Kittles, living at 232 Bull St. She had lived in Savannah nearly all her life. She was 23 years old, slim, dark and very pretty.

Seven bullets in all were fired by the girl. The first bullet passed over the physician's right shoulder, shattering the glass top of his desk. From the empty cartridges found inside the silk handbag carried by the girl, she must have fired this shot while the automatic was concealed in the bag. The second shot fired, supposedly while the doctor was still at his desk, took effect in his neck. The other two took effect in the physician's body and two went wild. The seventh and last bullet ended the life of the young woman.

CONFESSION OF A SUICIDE.

Real Murderer of Whitebeck Believed to Have Been Drowned.

New Orleans, June 17.—What is believed by the police here to be the confession of a man driven to suicide by remorse for the murder of an aged farmer near Auburn, Iowa, 5 years ago, and for which crime the dead man's son is now serving a life sentence, has been revealed here by a note found in a bottle on a Mississippi ferryboat.

The note, dated May 9, and signed "Jesse Miller, Pittsburgh," describes the murder of the farmer, whose name the writer said he did not know. The writer said he was tramping through Iowa in the early part of 1908, and at a farm house asked permission to sleep in a barn. Upon the farmer's refusal, the writer said he knocked the old man down with a heavy stick and ran away. He afterwards learned that the blow had been fatal, and that another man had been convicted of the crime. An officer formerly connected with the Chicago police department, stated today that he was satisfied the crime referred to was the murder of Arlow Whitebeck, 64 years old, and for whose death Walter Whitebeck, a son, was tried and convicted, and is now serving a life term in the Iowa state penitentiary.

Miller is supposed to have drowned himself by leaping off the ferryboat.

WOMAN PLEADS GUILTY.

Mrs. Caroline Fitzhugh After Repeated Denials, Admits Charge Against Her.

New York, June 17.—Mrs. Caroline Fitzhugh, the young Washington woman, whose case has mystified the District attorney as well as her own lawyers, has pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree before Judge Swann in general sessions after she had angrily denied her guilt.

The charges against her included the thefts of two mesh bags from Miss Dorothy Fisk, daughter of Pliny Fish, the banker, and Miss Irene Munsey. They missed them while attending sedvices in a fashionable 5th Avenue church.

Mr. Levy, her former counsel, advised Mrs. Fitzhugh to enter a plea of guilty. She refused and grew indignant. She complained to Judge Swann and stated to him that she desired a substitution of counsel.

"I am not guilty of this charge," she told Judge Swann, with vehemence, "and despite what my lawyers says—that is the best thing for me to do—I will not plead guilty, even if you promise not to send me to prison."

The case was adjourned for a while, Louis Spiegel being engaged to take Mr. Levy's place. He too, advised the defendant to plead guilty and after several long waits she finally decided to do so.

Several times the District Attorney in charge of the prosecution asked the court to call the case, but each time Mr. Spiegel pleaded for more time.

At last he announced he was ready and entered for his client a plea of guilty in the second degree. Preserving the same calm and refined manner that characterized her throughout the hearings, the woman answered the necessary questions and was remanded to the Tombs for sentence on Thursday.

She gave her names as Mrs. Carolina Fitzhugh, 26 years old, and said that her last place of residence had been the Hotel Flanders, in this city. Her request that she be permitted to make a statement in open court when she is sentenced ,was granted. It is expected that she will clean up the mystery of her identity. It has been repeatedly asserted that her real name is not Fitzhugh.

INJURED BY THEIR OWN BOMB

Two Italians Dynamite House and are Hurt and Captured.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 17.— Two Italians who dynamited the house of a wealthy fruit dealer early yesterday, were themselves badly injured by the explosion. The house was completely wrecked, but J. D. Tapani, and his family, the intended victims, were away from home.

With their clothing ablaze the bombthrowers fled, but rolled in the street to extinguish their burning garments, and were overtaken .

At a hospital one of them gave his name as Peffenio Principe. The other refused to talk.

Trapani told the police of a story of demands for money on penalty of death and pursuit which covered a period of 11 years. He came here two years ago from New Orleans.

According to Trapani he was the object of attacks for nearly nine years in New Orleans, and a few weeks after his arrival here his enemies began sending letters demanding various sums. These he ignored. Last week he said, he received what purported to be a final demand for $300. He was told that unless he paid the money to the Black Hand Society he and his family would be killed. This letter he also ignored.

He asserted his belief that the attempt on his life was planned by an organized society which had headquarters in New Orleans.

The injured men are expected to recover.

NATURALIST FINDS GOLD.

Naturalist Inspecting A Clay Mound Built by Crawfish Gathers in $700.

Grensburgh, Ind., June 17.—Solonon Spencer, naturalist, stopped to inspect progress on a crawfish chimney found that a gold dollar, coined in 1846, had been used in building a mound to keep the surface overflow out of the well-like home.

Spencer so well knows the ways of the overhead and underground residents of his tiny farm that he realized that this yellow coin lying on the top of the clay chimney must have come from below the surface, so he decided to investigate, even at the risk of demolishing his favorite crawfish's home.

Spencer's spade soon brought from the earth traces of rotted wood, then a metal strap and the next spadeful was largely clay-stained gold and silver coin.

He took the money to his home and counted it, $700 in all, without counting the premiums on many of the coins. The dates ranged from 1820, which was stamped on two eagles, to 1857, none being newer than this date.

Spencer arranged the coins in the nature museum in his home and invited the neighbors to see them. There has been much speculation as to the original owner and the neighborhood has concluded that they were left at the foot of a giant oak that stood on the spot where the find was made, by the Wesleys.

The Wesleys were a father and two sons who started from New York to California with the "Forty-niners," but who heard so many failures reported by the time they reached this city that they decided to become farmers here. They prospered.

At the outbreak of the civil war father and sons enlisted in the Union army and none returned.

Why Security Wide-Weld Roofing is the Best

What Ready Roofing is.

The term "Ready Roofing" is a broad one, but may be here taken to include all roofings made by saturating paper or woodfelt with some liquid or viscous substance intended to give it weather-proofing qualities. There are many varieties of such roofing on the market made sometimes in separate sheets or strips to be afterwards applied and lapped over each other upon the roof and sometimes built up in layers upon the roof itself. The materials used are also of varying quality, kind and thickness. Some of these so-called "ready roofings" are surfaced with a protecting layer of mineral substance like gravel mica or feldspar, but most of them are without this additional protection.

Whatever their kind or quality Security Wide-Weld Asphalt Roofing possesses certain definite points of superiority to all of them. If their good qualities are enumerated, it will be found that none of them possesses all of these qualities whereas Security Roofing does.

On the other hand Security Roofing has several advantages not possessed by any of them.

Hard Cement.

The layers of felt are united by alternating layers, of hard natural mineral asphalt cement, and the "wide-weld" is also made of hard cement. There are but few other asphalt roofings, and most of these use a liquid cement that is inferior in weather proofing qualities and allows the layers of felt to be readily pulled apart. The layers of security and inseparable.
